

Description

Is it a radiator for your Living Room or a towel rail for your Bathroom? The new Treo offers a unique take on what a radiator should be.

Its flat, linear shape is interrupted by three aligned holes creating something special and modern. How you chose to use it is up to you, but you will undoubtedly be left with a stylish talking point.

Although available in only one size, it does have the option of being hung either vertically or horizontally. There are also a number of interesting colour options to choose from.
